An interesting and impressive ceremony was enacted at the Naval Station on Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock. By invitation nearly one hundred of the friends of Admiral and Mrs. Lyon were present at the moment the former was converted into a full-fledged rear admiral of the United States navy. The blue silk pennant with the two white stars, waved in the breeze at the top of the naval flagstaff and at the same moment salutes and martial music gave an inspiring touch to the novel ceremony. The double rank of marine guard at the base of the flagstaff, and flanked on either side by the sailors of the U. S. Iroquois and the Hawaiian band made an impressive sight. Seventeen guns saluted the new flag, and after this the Oregon fired a salute of thirteen guns and from the Manning there was also a salute of thirteen and a return salute from the naval station of seven completed a new experience for the assembled guests. At the conclusion the Royal Hawaiian band played National airs. After congratulating the Admiral and his beautiful wife, refreshments and punch were served from the flower-bedecked lanais of the Naval Station. Mrs. Lyon was assisted in this pleasing duty by the ladies of the Naval Station. It was a gay and brilliant sight for the consular corps and naval and army officers were in full uniform. Captain Merrill and officers of the Oregon were present, and Captain Merrill looked so much like Admiral Lyon that he was constantly being taken for him, much to the amusement of everybody. Among the names in the guest-book, which was in charge of Paymaster Hagner, were the following:
R. De B. Layard, H. B. M. Consul; Mrs. Layard, Jas. G. Spencer, Chang Tao Fan, Chinese Consul; Mrs. Fan, A. L. C. Atkinson, Acting Governor; Edw. Davis, Brig-Gen., U. S. A.; Jno. P. Merrill, Capt. U. Captain Merrill, of the Oregon is a justly famous man, and his career has been a long one. He was a member of the Darien expedition, and his services in China were remarkable. He is said to have made the longest journey in interior China since the 14th century. Socially he is a great favorite and is always inundated with invitations.
Miss Irmgard Macfarlane's marriage to Major George Potter will probably occur in the first half of April. The wedding will be strictly a family affair with a few intimate friends included. The wedding will take place at the Macfarlane mansion. Miss Macfarlane is one of the popular society girls of the islands and Major Potter is well known and well liked. The bride-elect has been at Ahumahu for several weeks. She has been the recipient of innumerable cups, saucers and service plates.
The invitations for the Judd-Carter nuptials read as follows: "Mrs. A. Francis Judd requests the honor of your presence at the marriage of her daughter, Sophie Boyd, to Mr. George Paul Cooke on Wednesday evening, the fourth of April at eight-thirty o'clock, Central Union Church, Honolulu, Hawaii." There are also cards for the reception and "At Home," after June fifteenth, 1621 Keeaumoku street.
A pretty little tea was given on Monday by Mrs. Alexander Scott at her apartments at the Alexander Young hotel in honor of Mrs. Alfred Niblack, whose departure is so much regretted by all her friends. Ice, cakes, sandwiches, tea and coffee which were served by a fetching little Japanese girl, helped to pass a very agreeable afternoon. Among those present besides Mrs. Niblack were, Mrs. Swamy, Mrs. von Holt, Mrs. Henry Lyon, Mrs. Schaefer, Miss Winston, Miss Foreman, Miss Paris, Mrs. Asotti, Mrs. Charles Cooper and others.
Mrs. McDonald, who sailed for her home in Halifax, N. S., to enjoy a few months' vacation, has left the Lewers place in charge of Miss Tracy, of chafing-dish fame. This fact speaks for itself, and the guests are in the greatest luck.
Captain Sayce, who has a cottage at the Hotel Annex, expects to go to Hilo and the Volcano on Tuesday.
Dr. and Mrs. H. V. Murray are happy in the possession of a little son, born Tuesday morning.
Mr. Lyle A. Dickey has been quite ill at the Queen's hospital with appendicitis.
